

FAQ Sheet

Why are these changes in the program happening?

State and federal regulations around compounded GLPs have become more restrictive, especially in Nevada. To stay compliant and continue offering care safely and legally, we had to adjust how medications are prescribed and dispensed.

Will my price change?

If you are a grandfathered client, your pricing remains as outlined in our recent message. If you have questions about your specific plan, just reach out.

Why do I need my own vial now?

Shared or single-dose in-office GLP injections are no longer allowed under current regulations. Each client must have their own vial for personal use.

What is Dr Well and why am I signing up there?

Dr Well is a provider-to-consumer healthcare platform that manages GLP subscriptions and ships your medication monthly. Due to new rules, clinics can no longer order medications on behalf of clients—so this partnership allows everything to stay compliant.

Is Revenge MD still involved in my care?

Absolutely. Revenge MD still sends the prescriptions, oversees your treatment, provides injections (if you choose), offers coaching, and monitors your progress. The only change is where your medication is dispensed from and who processes payment.

Is the Dr Well signup link legit? Why am I entering my credit card?

Yes—it's legitimate. Payments will now be processed by Dr Well instead of Revenge MD. This is required for pharmacy compliance.

FAQ Sheet

Can I inject myself at home instead?

Yes. We're happy to teach you how and provide ongoing support. We do require a check-in (in person or via video) at least once a month, usually when it's time to order your next vial.

Do I need to buy anything else to self-inject?

No. Your shipment will include syringes, alcohol pads, and everything you need for the month.

Will I be receiving the same product I've been taking so far?

Compounding pharmacies are no longer able to compound straight GLPs alone. Your dose will remain the same, but you'll be able to choose whether your medication is compounded with B12, glycine, or B6.

Can I still get my injections at Revenge MD?

Yes. If you prefer in-office injections, we're still here to administer them and provide medical oversight, coaching, and accountability.

Are there any hidden fees with my GLP treatment?

No. Your subscription covers your treatment. Optional services or products may be available at the Revenge MD office, but there are no hidden fees related to your GLP medication.

Will I receive a vial for my exact dose?

Not always. Pharmacies may send vials with approximate dosing (often with a small excess). We'll help you calculate exactly how much to draw for your specific prescribed dose.

FAQ Sheet

Why continue with Revenge MD if this system seems similar to direct-to-consumer websites?

The difference is the guaranteed quality of your product and, more importantly, the human care. With Revenge MD, you have Dana and May actively involved in your journey—providing medical oversight, personalized guidance, education, accountability, and real support. Direct-to-consumer platforms offer convenience, but very little personal connection or individualized care.

Can I “stretch” my vial to last more than a month? Will I still have to pay for that month?

Ideally, vials should not be used for longer than 28 days. That said, if you choose to stretch a vial, we can delay the next vial shipment and the associated payment—just let us know so we can adjust the timing.

How long does it take for my vial to arrive?

Once the prescription is sent, processing typically takes 3–5 business days, followed by 1–2 days for shipping.

Can I order first and pay later?

No. The system requires payment for the month before prescriptions can be placed.

Can I pause my subscription?

Subscriptions can't be fully paused, but we can delay your next payment and/or the shipment of your next vial when needed. Just let us know and we'll help coordinate timing.

FAQ Sheet

My dose and schedule are very specific to my needs. Which pricing category do I fall into?

Every plan is individualized. If you're unsure which category applies to you, just call or message us—we'll review your current dose and schedule together and make sure you're in the right tier.

What if I'm nervous or unsure about the transition?

That's completely understandable. Please call or message us—we're happy to walk you through everything and make this as smooth as possible.
